AGENTS NOTE

The land at the front and to the left of the house when you look at it from the road., previously had planning permission for a four bed detached house. This planning has now lapsed but subject to normal planning conditions this may be able to be reinstated if a buyer wanted to develop the land themselves. The sellers have put an overage clause on the title that if this land is developed they will be able to claim back 25% of any profit made from the development for the next 20 years Buyers should make their own investigations through their legal representatives.
